Ellicottville: Your Holiday Marketplace

Make Your List, Check it Twice: Gift Ideas and Great Dining Options to Keep You Energized Through December

If you're looking to make a difference in your community this holiday season, step into any small business and #shoplocal. Even just a small percentage of your shopping budget, when shifted from big box store to the independent retailer, will help these local businesses to keep their "Open" signs facing out.

Here in Ellicottville, we're fortunate to have such an amazing array of shopping opportunities with a unique blend of products. Along with the #supportsmallbusiness movement, there are a number of community-minded fundraisers, so the idea of making a difference - well - it's actually fairly easy.

This issue is dedicated to the small business shops and restaurants. Find lots of great holiday gift ideas inside, many of which are featured in the Ellicottville Chamber of Commerce's "Holiday Marketplace".

Q&A SESH WITH THE BOARDROOM

Ellicottville's Snowboard Shop Discusses New Product, Banked Slalom

This week we're diving deep into The Boardroom Snowboard Shop, where Spencer Timkey and crew are stoked for fresh snow, new product, and newly formed partnerships. Learn more about the latest technology in helmets and goggles, how The Boardroom connected with a Buffalo-based company to build a new snowboard model, and the shop's ability to now offer ski and snowboard rentals through their online store. And of course, we have to talk about The Boardroom Banked.

"For the past few years, we've been hearing about this guy who's been custom-building skis in Buffalo," said Timkey in our recent interview. "His name is Jon Capozzi, and he is Old Growth Handcraft. Last season, he approached us about wanting to build a snowboard."

Ellicottville's Christmas Stroll: Celebrating the True Meaning of the Season

@visitellicottville

ELLICOTTVILLE - Slow down the pace during the holiday rush and take some time to celebrate the true meaning of Christmas during Ellicottville's annual Christmas Stroll. This year's Stroll is set for Saturday, Dec. 10 right here in the village of Ellicottville. The Christmas Stroll welcomes all to a day of friendship as locals and visitors come together to remember the season and the story behind this special time of year.

"Ellicottville is a great place to come out and experience a relaxed pace and to take the time to enjoy a nice representation of the reason we celebrate during the holiday season," said Gwen Bush, organizer of the event. "Come out and remind yourself what Christmas is all about."

Holy Name of Mary Roman Catholic Church, located on the corner of Jefferson and Martha Streets, will have their display of Nativity and Angels for all to see. The sidewalks of downtown will be filled with the sounds of the season as festive music permeates the air, coupled with the soft voices of sauntering carolers, horse drawn carriage rides, and the Wisemen strolling the village with a real live camel!

Local businesses have been busy decorating their storefronts, showcasing beautiful holiday themes for your enjoyment as you window shop throughout the afternoon. Once those noses are good and chilled, bring the little ones in from the cold for a hot chocolate break at The Tee Bar, which will be offering tasty holiday cookies. Santa's elves will also have toys and candy for all good little girls and boys from 4:00-5:30pm and if we're lucky, we may even get a visit from the Big Guy himself!

"We invite everyone to come out and enjoy an afternoon in our own little snow globe, to be together and celebrate friendship and fun!" said Jessica Wallace, Business Development Manager of the Ellicottville Chamber of Commerce. "Plus, where else are you going to find a Reindog Parade?" At 4:30pm, a spectacle like no other will take over the village, as many of our K9 friends, dressed in their holiday best, will march alongside their owners down the main drag to the gazebo.

"It's one of the most anticipated events during the holiday season here in Ellicottville," said Wallace. "Just picture it: dogs of all shapes and sizes, donning Christmas sweaters, antler headbands, sparkly bling and festive bells, parading down Washington Street, with crowds lining both sides of the street cheering them on ... it's magical entertainment at its best! It's always a crowd pleaser!" Those interested in participating in the Reindog Parade should meet at the post office parking lot a little before 4:30pm. There is no charge to participate.

The evening will come to a conclusion at the gazebo beginning at 5:30pm when the Ellicottville Central School Jazz Band performs Christmas carols, leading into a Living Nativity at 6:00pm featuring the local children of Ellicottville. Dressed the part to play the roles of angels and shepherds, these children will tell the story of that very first Christmas - the journey and the birth of Jesus. This year's Holy family will be played by Zak and Devan Fisher with baby Beck as Jesus, along with older siblings Benson and Britten. The ECS Jazz Choir will sing during the procession and pageant.

"This pageant has become an iconic staple of the holiday season here in Ellicottville and is a great representation of the true meaning of Christmas," said Bush. "Come share in the story. Come celebrate the season and our community." For more information on this year's Christmas Stroll including a full schedule of the day, head over to ellicottvilleny.com or call 800-349-9099.

ELLICOTTVILLE INDOOR GOLF

Play Any Course, Any Time of Year; 24/7 Access for Members

By MARY HEYL

If you think you need to head south to golf all year long, think again! Jake Northrup, owner of Ellicottville Indoor Golf, invites golfers of all ages and skill levels to keep up their game or learn new skills at his accessible, state-of-the-art facility located at 6633 Route 219 in Ellicottville. Whether you're looking to book a tee time or considering the perfect gift for the golf enthusiast in your life, Ellicottville Indoor Golf has it all: multiple membership options, flexible hours, and private lessons with Northrup, a PGA golf professional since 2000.

Established in 2015, Ellicottville Indoor Golf was inspired by everything that Northrup, himself, wanted in an indoor course. "I wanted a great space to work on my own game all year and also give other people the opportunity to use the space the way they want to use it," he explained. Last winter, Northrup upgraded his technology to the best in the industry: TrackMan 4, the standard in launch monitor technology that is used by more PGA Tour players and coaches than any other program. "There are over 190 golf courses in that system," said Northrup of TrackMan 4. "The technology has come a long way."

The program includes plenty of options for those who would like to compete, whether with themselves or others. TrackMan Combine Tests and Skills Tests help golfers hone their skills and track their stats, which can be easily accessed through the Trackman app. Trackman will track all swings, the golf ball and the clubhead and send users an email with a full report of how they played that day.

The simulator also allows golfers to play in practice on any hole of any course and enjoy challenging games such as closest to the pin, bullseyes, and more. "TrackMan even has kids games, like Magic Pond which is hitting golf balls at cartoon monsters for points," Northrup added. "It's very user-friendly."

Speaking of user-friendly, the entire space is designed with the individual in mind. With no sign and no walk-ins permitted, all members enjoy 24/7 access to the facility for themselves and their guests. Members can book tee times on a rolling basis - up to 30 days in advance. Once a time slot is booked online, that time is blacked out to anyone else. While Northrup used a keyed membership system in the past, he now uses thumbprint scanning technology to allow members access to the space, which is managed through video cameras. Not only does this allow Northrup to remotely lock or unlock the facility and monitor the comings and goings of members, but it also allows him to see the hitting area and computer if users are experiencing any trouble with the technology.

Northrup's entire space is turfed and includes a 25-foot by 15-foot putting green, teaching aids, fitness equipment, and a 75-inch flat screen television. For those looking to plan a larger event such as a bachelor or bachelorette party, the space has plenty of room to golf and relax, like any member club. Groups of up to 15 people can be accommodated, and there is plenty of comfortable seating, a small refrigerator for guests to store their beverages, and a Bose speaker for those who'd like to bring their own music. Northrup invites interested golfers to join the partners league, which starts in January.

Ellicottville Indoor Golf memberships are tailored to the individual golfer's needs. Northrup explained, "Depending on how long you're here and how often you want to golf, you can purchase unlimited monthly membership, a full season six-month membership, or even a three-month membership." Membership also includes discounted rates on instruction and guest fees.

12 GATES OF EVL NOW ON TAP

Brewery Opens its Doors to Craft Beer Enthusiasts with NYC-Inspired Menu

By RICH RUMFOLA

A community rich in dining/entertainment options got a little richer just in time for Thanksgiving, as the 12 Gates of EVL Taproom opened its doors at 14 Washington Street downtown Ellicottville, NY.

With an impressive slate of award-winning craft beers on tap and sporting a menu styled after a New York City kosher deli, 12 Gates of EVL partners celebrated a "soft opening" just ahead of the coming ski season.

"I think it's safe to say we all love Ellicottville and we think what we offer fits well with all the other players in town," said Todd Wilhelm, one of 12 Gates' original founding fathers at the opening of the new taproom. "We've all been coming here for years as skiers and we're really looking forward to forming a symbiotic relationship here in town."

The main offering to be served up at the new 12 Gates of EVL Taproom is handcrafted beer with wide-ranging flavors and styles - from pilsners, lagers and stouts to their flagship brew: a West Coast Style IPA that leaves you longing for another.

"The way it all started for us was we put a glass of the West Coast IPA in front of our Master Brewer, Matt Gordon," explained Tom Kirchmeyer, the other original partner of 12 Gates. "We told him that if he could create a product like that for us, then we could be very successful."

Craft beer aficionados may have had the chance to sample 12 Gates brews already, either at the main brewery/taproom in Williamsville, NY, at events like Holiday Valley's Beer and Wine Festival, or at select bars and restaurants located throughout Western New York. 12 Gates products are also available on grocery store shelves and at beer stores throughout the region.

When asked what type of food would be featured on the menu, 12 Gates of EVL partner Kevin Lalock explained that the new taproom would be modeled after the kosher delis found in New York City - serving traditional brisket, roast beef, pastrami and corned beef sandwiches (among others) - all piled ridiculously high on fresh bread/rolls and served with housemade macaroni and potato salads.

"We'll be working to expand our menu over time," Lalock explained. "I'm working on a couple of homemade pickle recipes right now and we'll be making our own soups of the day and salads - we'll even be making breakfast sandwiches on the weekends."

Tentative hours of operation for the 12 Gates of EVL Taproom will be Thursday from 4:00-10:00pm, Friday from noon-11:00pm, Saturday 11:30am-11:00pm and Sunday from 11:30am-8:00pm. Chances are good you'll also find local entertainers performing live music during your visit.

As for the goal of creating their own niche in the Ellicottville community, one need look no further than the 12 Gates social media pages, where it soon becomes obvious how much these brewers have become imbedded in the fabric of the Williamsville, NY area - home to their original taproom. Anyone making a quick scroll through the 12 Gates Facebook page will find that they are involved with many and varied community activities, such as a running club, sponsored hockey and soccer teams, and even a club for Jeep enthusiasts!

IRISH CHRISTMAS 2022

Holiday Fundraiser Honoring the Late Bob McCarthy Set for Dec. 9 at EBC

A step back in time: Bob McCarthy, Deb Shay, and Hugh Dunn, circa 2014.

ELLICOTTVILLE - We just got a big taste of winter before Thanksgiving which reminds us that one of the best holiday traditions unique to the area is just around the corner. Through the generosity of our friends at Ellicottville Brewing Company, the 16th annual Bob McCarthy Irish Christmas will take place Friday, December 9 beginning at 6:00pm.

This fun event reflects the generosity and compassion of our tight-knit community as many turn out to support the cause. Hosted by The Bob McCarthy Foundation, Irish Christmas serves to raise funds for the foundation's main initiatives - Santa's Workshop and the Sheriff's Santa Program. Proceeds also provide funding for our year-round family support services as we strive to level the playing field for those less fortunate in our community.

McCarthy, a master craftsman, the voice of Ellicottville and a friend to all is honored each year by the community togetherness embodied by Irish Christmas. The auctioning of baked goods, handcrafted items and neat finds from local businesses allow both Santa's Workshop and the Sheriff's Santa Program to provide holiday presents and meals to local families in need.

Bob McCarthy's Irish Christmas is back LIVE in the great new beer hall at EBC. The fun starts promptly at 6:00pm with an energetic performance from South Buffalo, Peter Zalocha and Charlie Coughlin of Crikwater. Their music conjures scenes of gritty smokey Irish pubs, whiskey, pints of stout, and good craic. You can enjoy the multi-part vocal harmonies, engaging fiddle tunes, and intricate musicianship while browsing the new Irish Basket Raffle. Grab some great food as local restaurants are serving up some specialties for the "Taste of Ireland" where for a small donation you can enjoy some fabulous dishes, special Irish coffees and Tom Kneeland's famous bread pudding. Rumor has it that Brewmaster Dan Minner is brewing up some McCarthy's Irish Red and a special Stout to help the cause.

The traditional live auction will start at 7:30pm and will be hosted by Brooks LeFeber of Brooks LeFeber Auctions. The auction treasures include some of Bob McCarthy's woodworking originals and special creations from Ed Frederickson, Mike Timkey, Huyghey Dunn and others. All auction items are accompanied by a homemade pie or baked item keeping with tradition. Each item will be on display from November 27 through December 9. You can also view them on the website and there will be a program at the event as well.

We are excited as the new Irish basket raffle means that all can participate with many lucky winners, taking home great gifts for a minimal donation. Live Auction items and the Irish basket raffle choices will be revealed weekly on our website at www.bobmccarthyfoundation.com/events.

The Foundation hopes that Ellicottville's unshakably generous community will open its heart and donate at www.bobmccarthyfoundation.com/donate or via snail mail at The Bob McCarthy Foundation, PO Box 101, Ellicottville, NY 14731. A little goes a long way!

Bob always found a way to make the holidays magical... and this year is no exception. Make sure you mark your calendar as Friday, December 9 will be one you won't want to miss! Learn more about The Bob McCarthy Foundation, Irish Christmas and other fundraising events at www.bobmccarthyfoundation.com.

THE BOARDROOM

INTERVIEW BY BRENDA PERKS

This week we're diving deep into The Boardroom Snowboard Shop, where Spencer Timkey and crew are stoked for fresh snow, new product, and newly formed partnerships. Learn more about the latest technology in helmets and goggles, how The Boardroom connected with a Buffalo-based company to build a new snowboard model, and the shop's ability to now offer ski and snowboard rentals through their online store. And of course, we have to talk about The Boardroom Banked. Let's go...

eNOW: Be honest... have the vibes ever been higher at The Boardroom?

SPENCE: The vibes have never been higher. The momentum we've seen from the past few seasons with so many new people getting into snowboarding has continued, and we're especially thrilled to see so many youngsters standing sideways for the first time. Throw in an early season dump - the boys' powder surf and pow slash edits were featured on the Instagram accounts of Burton, Snowboard Mag, Out of Collective and more - so suffice to say the engine is running very hot at 6113 Route 219. Product offerings from the industry's best brands - including boasting the area's largest selection for Burton Step On - help us stand out from the crowd in terms of specialty snowboard retail. We want to do one thing really well, and that's snowboarding.

eNOW: How's product curation looking this year?

SPENCE: When we go into our buying cycle, we try and curate a product selection that can appeal to the entire spectrum of snowboarders. Our weekend warrior dad who's chasing his kids around is going to be looking at a snowboard completely different than the kid lapping park all day. What's important to us as we walk someone through their purchase is that we find the right product mix that will maximize the fun they're going to have. What do they want out of the snowboard? By offering a wide range of options - pricepoints, colorways, flex patterns, etc. - we can dial in almost anyone into that perfect setup. It's not just snowboarding, however. A lot of our outerwear and accessory brands are crossovers, meaning we can still service our friends on skis for jackets, helmets, goggles, gloves and base layers. Find everything from high-end Burton [ak] with Gore-Tex to the outstanding value-driven Porter jacket from Under Armour.

eNOW: Tell us about the Old Growth Exchange.

SPENCE: For the past few years, we've been hearing about this guy who's been custom-building skis in Buffalo. His name is Jon Capozzi, and he is Old Growth Handcraft. Last season, he approached us about wanting to build a snowboard. We sat down, spec'd some stuff out and he got to work. While a lot of our guys absolutely love the board he built, we knew that from a retail standpoint it was too stiff. So we went back to the drawing board, dialed in the shape, picked out the topsheet material (after going through about 50 species of wood) before settling on the final build design. Jon's shop is located on Exchange Street in Buffalo, and we figured that would be an awesome name. They're now in the shop in 155, 158 and 161W centimeter lengths, and we do have a demo for anyone that wants to come try one out.

eNOW: The Boardroom's online store now also offers rental booking. Details please...

SPENCE: We're a snowboard shop. But did you know that the store originally started as Barnyard Ski Rental? Ski and snowboard rental is such a huge part of our business, and we wanted to make that process 1) easier for our customers, and 2) legitimize the store by joining the 21st century. The online rental booking software is clean, easy and will streamline the process for both us and our customers. It's our first season with it, and we know they'll be some growing pains, but we're super hyped on it and encourage folks to

THE CHOCOLATE ROOST

Something Sweet is in the Air in Portville, NY

PORTVILLE - Wafts of maple syrup from Sprague's Maple Farm and delicious loose hamburger scents from Red's and Trudy's Restaurant will now be joined with the aroma of chocolates at Portville neighbor, The Chocolate Roost, an addition to Rusty Roosters Farm and Vintage.

Jean Smith, owner of the company with her husband Justin stated, "The Chocolate Roost is a 300 square foot addition to our store where specialty chocolates, truffles and nostalgic candies provide a tasty treat to our area!" Certainly perfect timing for the holiday season!

The chocolates and truffles are outsourced from chocolatiers in Vermont, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, New York, New Jersey, and some Belgium chocolate imports. Justin added, "The roost currently has 50 varieties in the bulk case alongside several prepackaged favorites like sponge candy and sugar-free selections."

The couple have such fond childhood memories of local five-and-dimes with assortments of penny candy they just had to include them in their product lines - jawbreakers, rock candy, Neccos, Charleston chews, bazooka, lemon heads, fireballs, candy necklaces - to list just a few. They also have a great selection of saltwater taffy, a dozen fudge flavors, and 9 varieties of Jelly Belly jellybeans.

The Chocolate Roost had a soft opening in early November with great success, and held their official ribbon cutting on Small Business Saturday. Local officials, company staff and community leaders as well as the public were in attendance to celebrate the special occasion.

Rusty Rooster opened its 'barn' doors in mid-2019. At the time, the store was vintage resale retail with architectural salvage with reclamation wood products as a service. The showroom grew from 1300 square feet to 4500 square feet which now includes the chocolate shop and the addition of other favorite specialty food items like Finger Lakes Coffees, Amish Popcorn and Gourmet Creations Dip Mixes.

So why chocolate? Mrs. Smith replied, "One of my favorite things to do when we travel is check out the small hometown shops and restaurants. I often found fantastic little confection shops and we just don't have anything like this in our immediate area. I've long thought it would be a great addition to our shop."

"The best part of the months leading up to opening was researching and taste testing," added Mr. Smith, "finding those chocolatiers that have built excellent quality products like Birnn truffles of Vermont."

The store does have options for corporate gifts, event favors and dessert set-ups. Working with other local businesses for the holiday markets is a future option they'd like to explore. The Chocolate Roost has prepackaged selections including gift packs of truffles, sponge candy, fudge and a few sugar-free options. Other selections are all available by the pound with 50 varieties in the display case to mix and match (you can buy one piece or hundreds).

Mrs. Smith's favorites include sponge candy, dark truffles and coconut clusters, while Mr. Smith loves the thin mints. Stop in for yourself and decide which sweet treats are your favorite! Rusty Rooster Farm and Vintage is located at 484 Highland Terrace, Portville, NY. The shop is open daily through December from 10:00am-4:00pm Saturday/Sunday, and 10:00am-6:00pm Monday through Friday. For more information, please call 716-474-7402 or search them on Facebook.

"A LITTLE SOMETHING"

Support Local Artists: Tri-County Arts Council Small Works Show Sure to Impress

These artworks by (L-R) Jessica Boice, Wendy Bale, and Theresa Heinz, among close to 150 others, are currently on display and available for sale at TCAC.

By MARY HEYL

Tired of long lines in big box stores or scouring the internet for this season's most popular gadgets? Looking for a thoughtful, one-of-a-kind gift for that special person in your life? For a gift they won't wear out, re-gift, or replace with next year's new model, check out the incredible selection of art in the Tri-County Arts Council's "A Little Something Small," the third annual juried small works show. Visit in person at the Peg Bothner Gallery, located at 110 W. State St. in Olean, or browse and shop online at www.tricounty-arts-council.org. From now until January 14, the public is invited to view more than 140 pieces of artwork submitted by over 50 different artists from Allegany, Cattaraugus and Chautauque counties.

Now in its third year, the TCAC's small works show features more artists and pieces than ever before, and according to Sean Huntington, exhibition coordinator, this year's selection is incredible. "Every year, this has grown," he said. "In the first year, we had approximately 100 pieces, and in the second year, we had 130. This year, we have almost 150 pieces and the quality is amazing - these artists just keep topping themselves!"

New this year, the TCAC is giving out awards in two categories: Amateur and Professional. Sean Conklin, assistant curator at St. Bonaventure University's Regina A. Quick Center for the Arts, will select winners for the following awards: Best in Show, Best Professional, Honorable Mention Professional, Best Amateur, and Honorable Mention Amateur. Each award winner will receive a cash prize and a year's Artisan Membership, which allows the artist the opportunity to sell in the TCAC's Artisan Market. The public is invited to stop in and cast their vote for the People's Choice Award now through Dec. 2.

Each participating artist submitted one to three pieces of artwork under 12 inches by 12 inches, and some have already sold out. Artwork ranges from watercolor, gouache, oil painting, photography, pottery, jewelry, sculpture, stained glass, and more.

Jessica Boice, a new artisan member of TCAC and member of the Pennsylvania Watercolor Society, has three pieces in the show: Go Fish, Windy Day, and Under My Cap. "My work 'Go Fish' is my first experience using 'Yupo' paper - a synthetic surface that does not absorb wet paint; the paint dries 'on top of' the surface," Boice explained. "It's very unlike traditional watercolor papers, and has a unique set of challenges. This finished work has additionally been treated with a coating of acrylic sealant to prevent the painting from the adverse effects of moisture." With the Allegheny National Forest at her doorstep, Boice is continually inspired by nature, specifically her interest in foraging, which has led her to discover much of her subject matter, including beautiful leaves, acorns, and fungi.

Wendy Bale, a multi-disciplinary nature artist who lives south of Jamestown, is primarily known for her paper sculpture and drawings. However, a recent opportunity to take a bas relief class had Bale working with clay again after many years, and the experience yielded three beautiful pieces which are in this year's show. Speaking of her class, Bale said, "I chose an armored darkling beetle for my subject and found it very rewarding. The actual insect is tiny, only 3/4 inch or so, and these pieces give the viewer a closer look, as if seeing it through a magnifying glass. Sculpting in clay is very different than making paper sculptures, but some of the three-dimensional skills crossed over and I felt at home with the process." Bale is excited for people to see these sculptures and has a large bag of plaster waiting to become more beetles!

INTERVIEW

DECEMBER 10th • 8:00PM

By Melanie Hulick

My final interview of a three-part series of “A Boy Band Christmas” at Seneca Casinos concludes with platinum selling artist Ryan Cabrera.

Starting out as a lead singer for the band Rubix Groove, based out of Dallas, Cabrera soon found success as a solo singer/songwriter and guitar player. With hits like “On the Way Down”, “I Will Remember You”, “True”, “House On Fire” and his current single “Worth It” that he wrote during the pandemic, Cabrera is excited to be out there seeing his fans once again, and there’s no better way to do that than being part of a Christmas show with friends from some of the biggest boy bands including 98 Degrees, All 4 One and O-Town.

Making two stops in Western New York - December 9 at Seneca Niagara Resort & Casino and December 10 at Seneca Allegany Resort & Casino - the singer will be joined by Jeff Timmons, Drew Lachey and Justin Jeffre of 98 Degrees, Jamie Jones of All-4-One and Erik-Michael Estrada of O-Town. Talk about a line-up!

Cabrera is looking forward to returning to the Western New York area, which has a huge connection for him and for another Western New York native that produced his first album, which you will read about in the following conversation.

During our interview we also talked about Cabrera’s musical influences and all things Christmas, including a message for his fans that he is really excited to share with everyone.

Currently, Cabrera is enjoying life with his new bride, Alexis Kaufman, a professional wrestler who goes by Alexa Bliss, whom he wed in April of this year.

“A Boy Band Christmas” is scheduled to play around 12 dates criss-crossing the United States, making all those boy band fans even happier the holidays are here. We are so fortunate to have such a magical performance scheduled so close to home!

You can follow Ryan Cabrera on social media platforms (@ryancabrera). For additional show details, ticket information and to book overnight accommodations, please visit senecacasinos.com.

To read our previous “A Boy Band Christmas” interviews with Jeff Timons and Jamie Jones, search ellicottvilleNOW.com’s website at ellicottvilleNOW.com. See you at the show!

A Conversation with Ryan Cabrera

HULICK: We get two chances to see you when you play Seneca Niagara Casino and then another show at Seneca Allegany Casino.

CABRERA: I love it! I’m excited to see Niagara Falls again.

HULICK: I usually ask the artists I interview if they have a Buffalo connection, but you have a huge connection.

CABRERA: Yes with John Rzeznik of the Goo Goo Dolls! He produced my first album. I heard stories when we were making that album... he would tell stories about his band coming up as a sort of punk rock band. It’s crazy where they are now in their careers. It’s great!

HULICK: You started out with the Dallas band Rubix Groove.

CABRERA: (laughs) Yes... back in the day.

HULICK: Were you always into music as a career?

CABRERA: It wasn’t like a childhood dream or anything. When I was around 15 I used to pretend I was in a band because the thought was that’s how I was going to get the girls (laughs)... show up in a band and they think you’re cool... even if I didn’t play any instruments. (laughs) Then when I was 17 or 18 I saw the Dave Matthews Band play and then I thought... oh, I want to do that.

HULICK: You’ve had great success, including in your solo career. In fact, some of your songs have been part of some pretty big moments. Your song “I Will Remember You” was used during the closing montage series finale of “Will & Grace”, and also used as the send-off of female contestants on the third season of “So You Think You Can Dance”.

CABRERA: Yes. The story about that song is that when I turned that into the record label they didn’t like it. They said it shouldn’t make the album, so it wasn’t made a single. My publisher loved the song and he said that he was going to keep rolling with the song even though the label didn’t want to put it on the album, and low and behold “Will and Grace” picked it up and then came “So You Think You Can Dance”. It was also used in a Ford commercial on the “American Idol” finale and all of a sudden it had life, and then the label was like... oh, we love that song.

HULICK: (laughs) Don’t you love that when it happens... and somebody’s so dead set against it and you get the chance to prove them wrong?

CABRERA: (laughs) Yes! Absolutely! Especially in music... it happens all the time. You just gotta believe that if you think it’s a great song then you gotta go for it.

HULICK: You write all your own music. How did the pandemic effect that? A lot of artists have told me that they looked at the lyrics differently because of all that was going on.

CABRERA: The pandemic happened right after I met my wife and we really just took that time to spend with each other... but I did get one great song out of it and that’s my current single, “Worth It”.

HULICK: You got married in April, so you’re still in the honeymoon stage.

CABRERA: Yes... we’re about six months in... we’re very happy.

HULICK: Who were your musical influences?

CABRERA: Mine were kind of all over the place, from Dave Matthews, Beatles, George Harrison, Sam Cook, Paul Simon... the classics.

HULICK: Let’s talk Christmas. Since you are doing your Boy Band Christmas tour I think it would be something fun.

CABRERA: Yes, let’s do it. I love Christmas. I have my tree up year-round.

HULICK: Do you have a family tradition?

CABRERA: Every year my mom cooks a Colombian breakfast because that’s what grandma used to do when we were kids. My dad’s from Columbia. Growing up my mom learned all the recipes, so she cooks Arepas every year now that my grandma has passed. I can’t wait for that breakfast! When I smell it that’s when I get out of bed. (laughs)

HULICK: (laughs) That’s what my next question was going to be... your must-have food. What was your favorite gift as a child?

CABRERA: I was a little bit of a naughty kid. I snatched my mother’s credit card and there was this guitar that I wanted. It was an electric guitar, so with her credit card I went to Guitar Center in Boston and bought this really expensive guitar that I dreamed of having... and of course I wasn’t even thinking I’m gonna get caught... but I was young and dumb (laughs)... and I got grounded and she took the guitar back and I was pretty bummed. Four or five months later Christmas came around and there it was! She never returned it, so I got the guitar for Christmas that year.

Core Performance: Why Are My Joints Making Noise?

By KIM DUKE, CERTIFIED PERSONAL TRAINER

We've all been through it... wake up in the morning, stretch your arms and something, somewhere cracks. Sometimes it feels like you've relieved tension and other times it just hurts! So, should you be worried about this noise that makes people think they're falling apart?

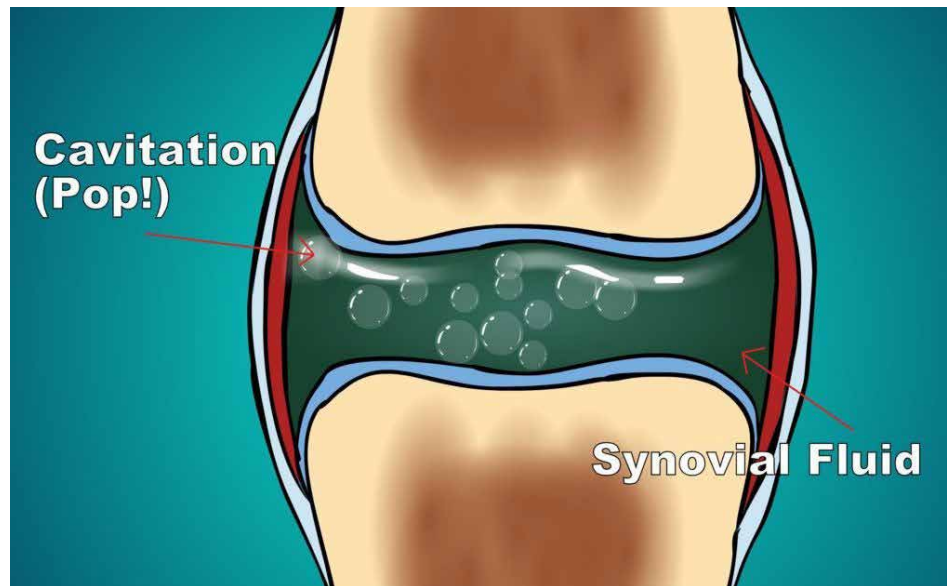

Although it can be embarrassing at times, usually snapping joints is not something you should be worried about. But, if you have swelling and pain with the cracking, then there could be something wrong, and you really need to visit your doctor.

Why do your joints make noise? You'll notice as you get older that your joints start making more noise, but why? The answer is simple. Imagine a door, when it creaks it needs oiling, right? Our joints are similar in a way. We don't have oil between our joints; we have cartilage. As you get older, the cartilage between your joints starts to wear away. Don't fret, it's normal, and you should expect it. It's completely normal for your joints to pop, crack and creak. It's not anything to be concerned about unless you're in pain.

What is the sound? There's more than one reason for your cracking joints. Let's say you're working out, and you're doing the same exercise over and over again, like push-ups or squats. You could notice that one of your joints is making a snapping noise every time you bend your elbows or your knees. The noise is telling you that one of your muscles is tight, which is causing friction around your bone, or it could be one of your tendons rubbing over your bone. If and when you notice it, you need to stretch your body out to get your muscles to relax. Try listening to your joints when they pop; you'll notice that your shoulders make the loudest popping noises - that's because there are a lot of tendons that move over your shoulder bones, making the noise that much louder.

Cracking Knuckles: We have all either heard someone purposely cracking their knuckles, or you have done it to yourself. The sound you hear coming from your knuckles is nitrogen bubbles popping. It's normal for these bubbles to collect and get compressed in the cartilage between your knuckles. Have you ever heard the myth that you'll give yourself arthritis or your knuckles will get big if you pop them? You probably have, but as we said, it's a myth. This won't happen because it's gas being released.

Avoiding Creaky Joints: What do you do when your skin is dry? You apply lotion, right?

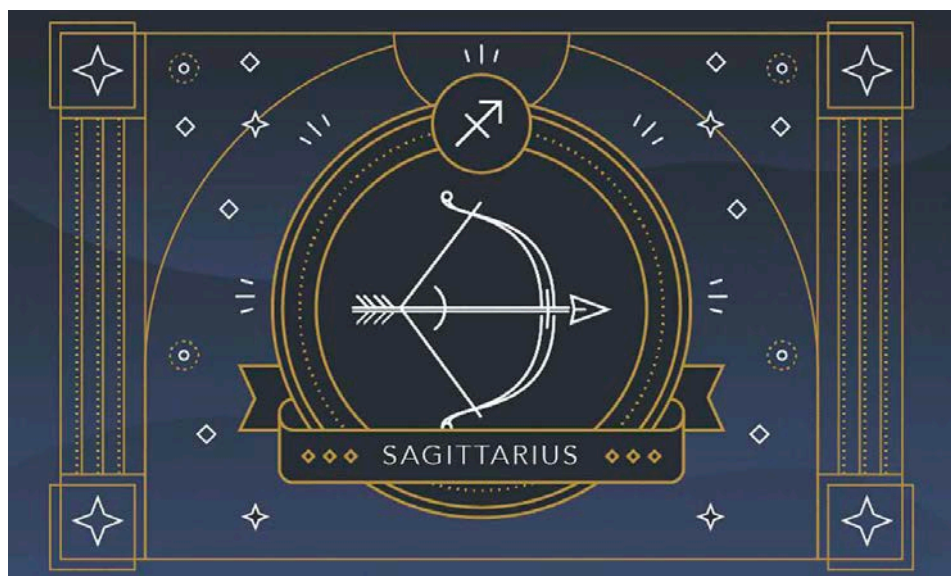

So, the solution for creaky joints: "Motion is lotion". If all the snapping, cracking, creaking, and popping are bothering you, then your solution is to move around more! Why? Because sitting around doing nothing is stopping the fluid between your joints from moving around, building more gas. And all that creaking noise is... Gas bubbles popping!

Suzy's Star Readings - December Astrology: Sagittarius LOVE to Have Fun and Travel. Buckle Up!

By SUZY WOO, B.MSc

Happy birthday to the Sagittarius people! It's no surprise that this is the season of generosity and giving. When the sun is going through the constellation of Sagittarius, things tend to lighten up, our hearts become lighter, and we tend to laugh more. We partake in indulgences like cookies, and parties. Many travel - this is also the sign that loves to travel!

When learning astrology, most teach that Sagittarius is personified by Santa Claus - kind, generous and jolly. Santa is also a traveler; he goes around the entire world in one night! One thing about our beautiful Saggie friends is they lack an 'off switch.' Danger danger around spending and drinking. Have a limit and play within it, have a DD and safe you'll be. It's never like one glass of wine with a Sag, it's three and then let's go get more. They can be the life of the party. They can be clumsy, and love to give you an elbow nudge, get you to laugh (they have a loud laugh too), and absolutely love a good time. You always have fun in the company of a Saggie. They are straightforward, bold, and direct... don't ask them if you look fat in those jeans.

I'm happy to share that other than the full moon time of December 6-9, the rest of the month looks highly favorable across the board. That loaded full moon on the 7th is speaking to the retrograde warrior energy of Mars in Gemini, so there can be vehicle and communication mishaps, forked tongues, we can have arguments over morals and belief systems, and people can get really petty. Additionally, expect travel challenges (because Mars is going backwards in Gemini which is travel). Be sure to leave extra early, and double confirm everything!

The new moon in Capricorn is December 23, a perfect time to consider practical goals for the new year, especially regarding getting established in something, also for launching or growing a business, foundations, and structures. How can you 'clean up your act' for an accomplished new year? Jot a few things down for yourself to consider.

This is a spiritually charged time, as this is also the sign of faith and hope. Let your heart be light. Like, really. Because at the end of the day, what truly matters? That you love. Love yourself and reflect that love to others. Be slow to anger and quick to forgive. Stop keeping score, it's not worth it! Love heals all... it really does.

You can now order YOUR personal year ahead reading on my website; find out what energies will shine brightest for you in 2023! It will be quite different from the past two years! I'm also launching an in-depth, certification program to become an energy healer for 2023 with limited seats. If this calls to you, please visit my website at suzy-woo.com to read up and ask questions.

Have an amazing month! Remember the spirit of Sagittarius... kindness for self and others. Let the laughter begin. Cheers!

12 GATES BREWING

Megan and Parker McDonald of Columbus, OH were the first patrons of Ellicottville's newest bar/restaurant, 12 Gates of EVL at 14 Washington Street.

"My son, Brett and I own Jeeps and we thought it would be cool to start our own Jeep Club," Kirchmeyer explained. "It turns out there's not a lot of places around here that you can go to for trail rides and our events generally sell out within a week."

12 Gates is also involved in fundraising events in the northtowns and plans to carry on supporting groups like WNY Heroes, a non-profit organization whose mission it is "to ease the transition from combat to civilian life, and eliminate the hardships and complications that too many veterans continue to experience in America today." Any active duty service member and all veterans will receive 20% off their 12 Gates tab by showing their military ID.

Whether you're looking for a tasty, handcrafted brew or a tasty, old-school deli sandwich, the next time you're in town, push open the main gate at 14 Washington Street and say hello to the crew at the 12 Gates of EVL Taproom... Ellicottville's newest kids on the block.

eNOW: You boast one of the largest selections of goggles and helmets in the area. Can you give us a rundown of some of the brands you carry and what sets them apart?

SPENCE: We dedicate so much retail space to helmets and goggles for a couple of key reasons. First, helmets. What we know now about the brain, getting into a helmet that fits properly is so important. Everything we sell comes with MIPS (Multi-Directional Impact Protection System), which disperses the energy of impact. That comes standard in all helmets from Giro, Smith, Anon and Oakley. The second: Goggles, and clear vision. When you can't see on the hill, you're not going to have very much fun. A lot of the goggles we sell will come with two lenses - one for daytime light and one for low light - that change fast and efficiently. The Anon M series is fully magnetic with MFI (Magnetic Facemask Integration) where the facemask magnetizes to the bridge of your nose. The Oakley Mod7, which is very future, sees the lens/goggle attach directly to the helmet with no straps. Sometimes, we find we're guilty of offering almost too many options when it comes to goggles and helmets. Suffice to say, you'll probably find something you like.

eNOW: Is it too early to start talking Boardroom Banked #5?

SPENCE: Never. We are in the early stages of planning The 5th Annual Boardroom Banked, which will take place on Champagne at Holiday Valley on Sunday, March 5, 2023. The Banked is a day by snowboarders, for snowboarders, and we use it to raise money for a great cause. Last season, we were unfortunately turning riders down the day of the event, so we're trying to find a way to grow it so more can participate. We'll benefit P.U.N.T. Pediatric Cancer Collaborative again this season, so keep it locked to our Instagram for more information on signups, donations and more.

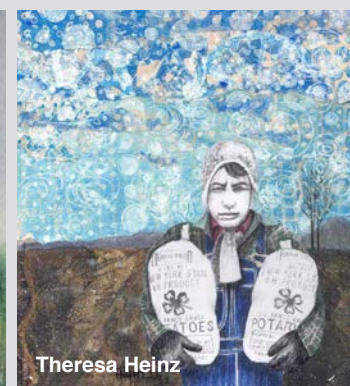

The Boardroom Snowboard Shop is located at 6113 Route 219, Ellicottville, NY. Find them on FB/IG and at boardsandpowder.com.

Theresa Heinz

A landscape painter and collage artist, Theresa Heinz may be a familiar face to many, as she grew up in Cuba, New York and taught high school art for 31 years in Olean and Allegany-Limestone. "'Potato Boy,' one of my pieces in the small works show, was inspired by a photograph I saw while at the Wyoming County Fair this past summer," Heinz explained. "I was completely captivated by the earnestness in the photograph of this 4-H student, Bob McCormick. My other two pieces are floral collages incorporating gelli printing with acrylic paint. I love the translucency of the paint over the printed image." She credits her junior high art teacher for inspiring her to become an artist, and she continues to share her passion through teaching art classes at the TCAC and Cuba Library.

Other participating artists include:

- | | | |
|---------------------|----------------------|------------------|
| Samantha Aldrich | Beverly Amborski | John Balacki |
| Karen Barber | Elizabeth Booth | Ann Brantingham |
| Rose Brawn | Victoria Brown | Michelle Capizzi |
| Dianne Clark | Robin Clark | Lisa Eppolito |
| Ruth Flood | Barbara Fox | Patricia Gay |
| Ed Green | Lynda Harris | Lynn Heckathorn |
| Noah Howard | Sean Huntington | Ashley LaBombard |
| Bonnie Leigh | Myriam Mayshark | Keith McKale |
| Peter Midgley | Lilly Thiel Milliman | Nicole Missel |
| Norma Nevinger | Violet Nolder | Eva Potter |
| Carolyn Raine | Lynzie Rinamon | Denise Schneider |
| Paul Schonhart | Brooke Shumway | Geraldine Smith |
| Michael Smith | Melissa Stitzer | Jenn Stillman |
| Deb Stillson Travis | Darlene Subulski | Tara Walker |
| Mikel Wintermantel | Eileen Weishan | Michael Weishan |
| Jennifer Wolbert | Jon Wolsky | Holly Zendarski |

While some pieces have already sold, all are still on display at the TCAC until Dec. 3. After this date, purchasers can take their artwork home with them, which is perfect timing for those who are planning to gift their piece! Every purchase supports the TCAC, as well as local artists who have invested their time and talent in creating these one-of-a-kind pieces. "This show is a wonderful way for local artists to introduce themselves to new collectors," said Huntington. "We have an impressive community of artists in this area."

To learn more or view artwork in the show, visit www.tricountyartscouncil.org and follow the TCAC on Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter.

HULICK: What's your favorite Christmas carol and Christmas song?

CABRERA: That's a good question. Nat King Cole's "The Christmas Song"... that's classic. My favorite Christmas carol... out of the old school ones? I'd say "Rudolph". Then "Oh, Holy Night"... some of the guys are performing that one on the tour... their own version. So I'm looking forward to hearing that on the tour.

HULICK: We can't wait until all of you guys get here. This is gonna be fun!

CABRERA: You're mixing individuals of all of these bands together. It's like a dream come true for fans... and we actually all like each other so that makes it 10X more fun for everyone.

HULICK: Well I know Jamie Jones and Jeff Timmons are excited about it. I had the chance to talk to each of them as well. Do you have a message for your fans that are coming out to see you?

CABRERA: I'm super excited to do some things we've never done before. Me and Erik-Michael Estrada of "O-Town" have a brand new Christmas song to debut, and I can't wait for everyone to hear it. This is my first time ever writing a Christmas song. I hope they all like it!
